

Pallavi Guniganti

Pallavi Guniganti joined GCR as a trainee reporter on the first day of the Apple e-books trial in 2013, and became editor in 2016. She is based in Washington, DC, and grew up in East Texas. Before her career in journalism, Pallavi worked in litigation and health care, blogged about law and politics, and spent a year travelling around the world. She holds degrees in economics, law and EU competition law from the University of Virginia, Columbia University and Kings College London respectively.

pallavi.guniganti@lbresearch.com

Content from this author

- US agencies issue draft vertical merger guidelines
- Q&A with Kristen Limarzi - Part II
- Q&A with Kristen Limarzi - Part I
- Live Nation extends US decree and wins UK deal approval
- US FTC sues to block Illumina/Pacific Biosciences
- UK raises concerns about Amazon/Deliveroo
- Antitrust observers raise doubts about Warren proposal
- Warren's planned antitrust law fights bigness
- Google/Looker cleared in Europe
- DOJ cuts deferred prosecution deal with bankrupt pharma
- US closes probe of mobile network operators for eSIM standard

- “Killer acquisitions” raise distinct concerns, says ACCC lawyer
- Ex-chief US DOJ economist sees “crisis in antitrust”
- Ro-ro claimants lose at maritime agency
- US DOJ appellate chief joins Gibson Dunn
- Face the nation
- DOJ embraces arbitration after long CVS/Aetna review
- FTC asks public for tech concerns
- An interview with Chris Sagers
- EU and US enforcers look beyond market share to find dominance
- France may apply excessive pricing law to non-price conditions
- Multihoming could help tackle platform dominance, says DG Comp head
- FCO officials defend tech decisions
- Amex has little effect on merger analysis, Hoffman says
- DG Comp official evaluates reform proposals
- Qualcomm appeals against FTC win to receptive Ninth Circuit
- Firewalls: separation short of a breakup
- Qualcomm loses bid for stay
- DG Comp official previews vertical block exemption concerns
- Informal complaints keep cartel cases coming, says Belgian antitrust head

Copyright © Law Business Research

Company Number: 03281866 VAT: GB 160 7529 10

- Subscribe
- About Us
- Contact
- Terms
- Privacy
- Advertising
- E-mail preferences
- RSS